the enemy back on a front of sixty-two miles.

The amount of war booty captured by the Allies in the Marne salient is reaching staggering proportions. In only half the territory taken by the Americans alone fifteen long trainloads of German ammunition already have been collected and sent to the rear.

An indication of the effectiveness of the American machine gunners is described by the Associated Press correspondent at the front. He says an entire German battalion attempted to prevent Americans from building a bridge over the Vesie. The Germans came under the fire of masked American machine gun battalions and were wiped out. Observers declare not one man escaped and no German stretcher bearers approached, indicating that every one was killed and not one wounded.

GERMAN HEAVY ARTILLERY IN ACTION FOR FIRST TIME SINCE THEY CROSSED OURCQ

Americans at Fismes and Allies at Other U BOAT MUTINY SPREADS; Points Under Heavy Fire From Above the Aisne.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMIES IN FRANCE, Aug. 7 (United) Press) .- German heavy artillery is in action for the first time since they were driven across the Ourcq. The firing is now the most violent since the enemy retreat from the Marne.

This is the first indication that the German guns have reached the fine where the enemy intends to make a stand. Some are probably firing from north of the Aisne, but the main line of resistance appears to be along the heights between the Aisne and the Vesle.

The American rear areas are being shelled and Fismes is under a terrific fire of high explosives and gas. Our gunners are giving as good vation of the submarine war are in as they receive, or even better.

Increasing German terror of falling into the hands of the Americans can be observed. A hill southeast of Fismes was littered with German dead, all shot in the back when the position had become untenable. They had fled rather than surrender,

Two wounded Germans, who had been biding three days, begged their ships or seek an opportunity not to be killed when they were brought in. They said their officers told to sink them and get themselves inthem the Americans took no prisoners.

An American balloon observer made a sixth daring leap to safety when a German plane brought down his gas bag. In five previous attacks the Boches had not got his balloon, but had forced him to jump. Yesterday afternoon his balloon was shot down in flames, but the observer landed safely after a parachute ride.

RESCUE MEN FROM SCOW ON BRINK OF NIAGARA; MAROONED ALL NIGHT

Were 3,000 Feet Above Horse Shoe Falls When Craft Lodged on Shelf of Rock.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Aug. Buffalo, and Gus Lofberg, a sailor engaged in dredging the Niagara River and Hydraulic Power Company's canal for increased power development, were rescued this morning from a scow on which they were marconed 3,000 feet above the Horseshoe Falls and 850 feet from the Canadian shore. The scow lodged on a shelf of rock in the rapids above the cataract yesterday afternoon after a tow line between it and the tug broke while the vessels were a short distance above the upper rapids.

Harris was the first taken off, at 8.40 o'clock. Lofberg was landed an hour later. The men made the trip from the stranded scow to the roof of the great power plant in a breeches buoy operating on lines shot across the scow by the United States Coast Guard from Fort Niagara.

Both men collapsed after they were brought ashore. Their condition is not critical, it is believed, but long hours of hard work without food and the terrible nerve strain told heavily on

AMERICAN OFFICERS BRIDGE THE VESLE UNDER HOT FIRE

Perform Tasks to Which They Refuse to Expose Men Under Their Command.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON THE VESLE, Aug. 7 (Associated Press).-The Germans appear to be determined not to permit American engineers to throw bridges across the Vesle, and as a result several Amercan officers have had thrilling experiences. The bridge builders had been eager to proceed with their work despite the German fire, and their offiers have had to hold them back.

Lieut, E. F. Mail of California on Tuesday was under cover with sixty nen on the south bank awaiting a full in the German shelling in order to build a bridge. It was intended to build a footbridge on the foundations of a bridge destroyed by the Germans and then to put up a larger structure. Rather than expose his men. Lieut. Mall, carrying two planks, started on on an exploration trip by himself.

The Lieutenant reached the south ern pier just as the German machine gunners commenced a heavy fire. This did not stop him. He tossed one plank into a temporary position and then put the other in place from the south pier to the pier in the middle of the river. The enemy fire becoming warmer, Lieut. Mail jumped into the river and took cover on the north bank. Afterward he recrossed to the south bank and rejoined his command amid cheers from the soldiers.

At another point further west of Fismes Major Francis R. Newcomber and Capt. James P. Growden. during daylight, felled a tree across the Vesle and crossed to the north bank. There they chopped down another tree, which fell toward the southern bank. Soon afterward they had completed a footbridge with the tree trunks as stringers. Newcomber and Growden had gone ahead of the bridge building gang to the position, and when the gang to the position, and when the gang arrived they found the work well started. The enemy discovered the footbridge soon afterward and since has subjected it to a lively fire.
